Physiotherapy

As experts in anatomy, Nuffield Health Physiotherapists are at the forefront of treating musculoskeletal pain.

Physiotherapy techniques include a thorough biomechanical assessment. Treatment may include exercises, manual therapy (including joint mobilisation or manipulation, myofascial release) and advice. Your treatment will be unique to your specific needs.

There is a FREE 10min appointment available, which will tell you whether or not Physiotherapy is appropriate for your condition.

All major private medical insurance is accepted. Family members can be seen but employees will need to sign in and host them as a visitor to the campus. If it is your first appointment please arrive 5 minutes early

Physiotherapy

Ginny gained a first class BSc (Hons) In Physiotherapy from Kings College London in 1999 and an MSc in Advanced Physiotherapy from University College London in 2005.

She worked in NHS Hospitals initially in London, followed by Kent for a total of seven years. During this time she held a weekly clinic at the British Association for Performing Arts Medicine working with actors, dancers and performers. She then worked in private practise in Wiltshire for almost 5 years seeing clients with sports injuries, work related problems, and post accident and surgery.

She joined Nuffield Health at the Vodafone site in September 2010.

She is a student on the BWY Yoga Teacher Training Diploma and in her spare time flies a hang glider.
